

Justin Viacrusis: I am in charge of the more abstract parts of the program. The parts the tie the individual elements together.

Because Game is so central, I have highlighted quite a few of the boxes. However, the parts themselves are quite small in code footprint, except for collision handling.

